The Bulletin employes, forty strong, nvaded Ludlow Saturday for their annual outing, as the guests of Manager William H. Oat. The boys were taken to the farm by auto trucks taken to the farm by auto trucks about 10 o'clock. At noon a chowder was served. The feature of the day was the ball game between the day and night forces, the night men winning by the score of 5 to 3.

The night men, as usual, put up the best showing. With Standish in the box and Fletcher behind the bat, they had a battery that proved too much for the day men, who didn't have a look in. Joseph Oat twirled the sphere for the day men and Burdick caught.

At 4 o'clock all enjoyed an old-fashioned chicken pie, the kind mother used to make, prepared by Chef Bert Lumis. The pie was devoured in short order by the hungry printers. Victrola music was enjoyed and various other things which go to make up an up-to-date printer's picnic passed the afternoon all too quickly. At the end of a perfect day the boys boarded the trucks again and arrived back in the city at 7.15 o'clock, all voting Manager Oat there with the goods!

Without Faith, it is impossible to please God. Rev. Dr. Slocum said in peached from the text, Heb. 11.6—Without Faith, it is impossible to please God without faith because faith is fundamental to the very nature of God. John said
"God is love." Paul said "Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three and the greatest of these is love." So, then, if God is love and if love is greater than faith, then God is faith-plus; for the whole is greater than an yof its parts.

Not only is faith an essential part ingly. There are people today who have become so familiar with doubt as a scalpel that they do not know just where to draw the line in its use. In other words, faith seems almost impossible with them.

Over against that I would like to put the testimony of Paul who said I know and when he said that, he used word that had a two fold signifi-If a man were saved from drowning or from any other danger that threat-ened him, he would probably know by his own senses that he was saved. It is no different in this matter of the salvation of the soul. There are thousands of people who know they are children of God. They have the evidence within themselves.

have the evidence within themselves. It isn't a mere emotional experience, either. It is built on faith—faith in the eterns! verities of God.

God has put faith like a thread through His universe. We will not get lost if we follow it. There are wonders that would stagger the immigrant if we could see them all at once and have no explaining word concerning them. But when through some faing them. But when through some fa-miliar thing here we get the key or clue to something greater there, we shall not be overcome.

Just as we have, sometimes, recognized people whom we had never seen before a picture of them, so by faith do we climb on and on to comprehend things we have never known before by sense or sight.

There are a good many people in this world who have had disappoint-ments because some anticipations had climbed up too high. And they dropped down.

But there is one experience that is greater than it has ever been described—the meeting of a soul with Christ.

OBITUARY.

John H. Brown. John H. Brown, a lifelong resident of New London and former chief of the fire department and street commissioner, died at his residence, 191 Hempstead street, in that city, Saturday morning after an illness of several months. Heart disease was the cause of death. He was 75 years of age.

eral months. Heart disease was the cause of death. He was 75 years of age.

Mr. Brown was one of New London's best known citizens and was held in high respect and esteem by a host of friends. He was born March I, 1841, and after completing his education in the public schools took up the trade of a stone mason with his father, the late Daniel Brown. Together they did the greater part of the stenework in that vicinity for the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the New London Northern raliroads, their contracts including the Long dock at East New London and the pier from which raliroad cars were formerly ferried across the Thames.

Mr. Brown took an active interest in the affairs of the fire department. He became a member of the Nameaug Engine company in 1883. Subsequently he was elected foreman of that organization and later was appointed chief of the department. In the 80's he was made street commissioner and continued in office until 1963. Since that time he had followed no occupation.

He was a member of Brainerd lodge.

He was a member of Brainerd lodge, F. and A. M., and the John Winthrop club. He was a lifelong republican and was aiways an active party worker. Outdoor life appealed to him and he was especially fond of hunting, making several trips into the woods, unaccompanied, last fall, and returning with good bags of small game. In spite of his advanced years, Mr. Brown took a lively interest in current events and until his last illness could be found in State street every June and from then until September 25th, when my last baby was born, I got along much better than I had before. My baby was a girl and weighed 14 pounds at birth, and I recovered very rapidly which I am sure was due to your medicine. I am well and strong now, nurse my baby and do all my work. I had the same good results with your medicine when needed before my other children came and they are all healthy. My mother has taken your medicine with equal satisfaction. She had her last child when nearly 44 years old and feels confident she never would have carried him through without your help, as her health was very poor. —Mrs. T. F.
